
Many of us have a password for our favorite websites that we use routinely. For instance, you might have a password for your email account, one for Facebook, and another one for your online bank account. But what about your Wi-Fi? Your phone? Your TV? In this post I'm going to show you how to crack the PIN code protection of any device with ease. Table of Contents

1. What is a PIN Code? A PIN code is a 4-digit number that you use on your phone, tablet, or any device with a digital lock to unlock it. In other words, it's a security code that grants access to the device.
2. How Is It Cracked? In order to crack this protection, we need to find out the password from the device owner and use it ourselves for unlocking the application from his or her device. Technically, it's a way to get into any device assigned to a particular person.
3. How to Crack a PIN Code from Another Mobile Device? In order to do that, you need at least two devices – the one with the PIN code and the one without it. In most cases, you can use your own device along with someone else's phone or tablet for this purpose. Let's take an example of cracking the PIN code from the mobile device of a friend of yours by using your personal phone. It can be done in three steps:
 - 1) Use another phone without a PIN code and install any app that can access a Wi-Fi network.
 - 2) Connect the phone with a Wi-Fi network and open it.
 - 3) Access the personal Wi-Fi network of your friend and install a program that can crack a PIN code from any device.
4. The Cracked PIN Code That You Need to Use After That Usually, this program will generate a crack for your friend's phone. In order to use it to unlock his or her device, you need to go back to the first step and transfer the code from another phone using USB cable or Bluetooth or another wireless connection to another device where you have installed the application from which you've already got access to the Wi-Fi network.
5. How to Crack a PIN Code from Your Phone? There are numerous ways to crack a PIN code from your phone, but we're going to use the easiest and simplest option – using a free online password cracking service such as www.crackme.net.
 - 1) Go to this website and enter the information about your phone below: Make sure you specify the manufacturer of your device, model name, and serial number so that they will not return an invalid code. Press on "Get my PIN code", and wait for one minute until the website generates a unique PIN code on your screen.
 - 2) Access your mobile device's apps list and choose "Settings."
